

Antonis Theodorides is a Cyprus-based aviation executive with more than four decades of experience spanning airline management, aircraft charter, leasing, sales, and international business development.

He currently serves as Regional Managing Partner – Cyprus & Israel for The Aviation Factory, where he is responsible for advancing the group's commercial footprint, strategic partnerships, and aviation opportunities across both markets and the wider region. He also holds the position of CEO of Q4 Aviation Ltd and serves as Vice President of the Flight Safety Foundation – Southeast Europe – Cyprus.

Throughout his career, Antonis has held senior roles with leading airlines, including Gulf Air and Aegean Airlines, and has contributed to airline start-ups, commercial operations, and aviation brokerage activities.

With an extensive international network developed over decades, Antonis combines deep industry experience, long-standing professional relationships, and a hands-on commercial approach. He is strongly committed to fostering connections, creating opportunities, and delivering practical aviation solutions across Europe, Israel, the Middle East, and beyond.